

Lost Foods Nursery's Most Popular Plants

Vine maple	Acer circinatum
Crimson columbine Sitka columbine Western columbine	Aquilegia formosa
Sticky monkeyflower	Diplacus aurantiacus Mimulus aurantiacus
Seaside daisy Seaside fleabane	Erigeron glaucus
California poppy	Eschscholzia californica
California wax myrtle Pacific wax myrtle	Morella californica Myrica californica
Western azalea	Rhododendron occidentale
Flowering currant Red flowering currant Redflower currant	Ribes sanguineum
Blood currant Flowering currant Pink flowering currant	Ribes sanguineum var. glutinosum
Checker bloom Checker mallow Dwarf checkerbloom Wild hollyhock	Sidalcea malviflora
California huckleberry Evergreen huckleberry	Vaccinium ovatum

Lost Foods is a non-profit organization(501c3), dedicated to restoring native plant diversity and abundance and reintroducing native foods to create a sustainable society. Lost Foods created and maintains the Lost Foods Native Plant Nursery and three Native Plant Sanctuaries and promotes and demonstrates the uses of native plants for food, medicine and wildlife habitat.

Location: 3750 Harris St, Eureka, CA 95503 (at Redwood Acres Fairgrounds). Enter Gate #3 at Redwood Acres and turn left after the first building. Park in front of the fenced garden area.

Business Hours: Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays form Noon-6pm or Sunset.

Phone: (707) 268-8447